

August Clinic Series

Another August - another choice to make. 1. Be happy with the work you have put in this summer. Take August and relax a little more, content with your progress. Commit to picking it back up once school starts. 2. Do what all great players do - push the envelope. Take the one month where most people lay back just a little more, and forge ahead with even more energy. Greatness requires not only harder work, but smarter work. Which is exactly why we offer our August Clinic Series - to help those special, select players with the in depth aspects of the game that will multiply their growth - physically and mentally. So get ready to fill up that August tank...

Session 1 - Score inside the paint

There are numerous ways to score once you get inside the paint. You would think it would become easier since you are now closer to the basket. The problem are those pesky defenders! In this clinic we will go over all of the vital aspects of finishing closer to the rim. We will work on footwork (a highly underrated aspect of the game), strong and weak hand, one foot finishes vs two, pump fakes, floaters, and much more. It is one thing to get to the basket, but can you score the basketball! After this clinic, you will be able to!

Session 2 - Score outside the paint

Now that you know how to score close to the basket, let's move it back out. It is imperative that you be a dual threat. Can only score inside? No reason to guard you out top (Rondo). Can shoot, but can't get to the basket? I can put full maximum defensive pressure on you (Korver). This clinic will focus on shooting off the dribble, shooting off the pass, one on one moves to create space, using screens, and much more. Let's round your game out!
